Ignite a Love of Reading

Did you know that just 20 minutes of reading a day will change your child’s life?

While that may seem like a big statement to make, numerous studies have consistently shown that 20 minutes exposure to reading materials each day is all it takes to positively shape your child’s future.

And this doesn’t just include complicated educational texts—any reading materials, be it comic books, novels, picture books, recipes, magazines, or the back of food packets, all count towards your child’s daily reading goal.

Reading for 20 minutes a day exposes your child to more than 600,000 words in one year. That’s more than double the word exposure of a child who only reads for 5 minutes or less each day.
Steps to Make Your Child a READER

RELATE
Help your child find themselves and their life within the books they choose.

ENERGIZE
Have lively dialogues about the books your child reads and plans to read.

ALLOCATE TIME
Make reading a part of your everyday routine.

DIVERSIFY
Introduce different genres (e.g., mysteries, biographies, sci-fi, etc.).

ENGAGE
Make it fun (e.g., help your child organize a local book club with peers).

READ TOGETHER
Participate by taking turns reading passages aloud.

SUPPORT
Provide your child access to books (e.g., build up your child’s home library).

“Both parents and teachers play a key role in encouraging children to read books for fun.”
